Dear Customer,

In January of this year we increased our aerosol pricing due to significant cost increases for aerosol cans and related packaging components. It was our intent at that time to hold all other prices for as long as we could. Due to the continued rise in the price of crude oil, however, this is no longer possible. The price of crude oil either directly or indirectly affects our costs for freight, energy, packaging, and many raw materials. Effective May 1, prices for all liquid and powder products will be increased 4.2%. Aerosol prices will remain unchanged. If your pricing has already increased for 2008, you will not be subject to this increase.

We recommend that you refer to our web site, www.abccompounding.com, for the most current pricing. Please contact your sales representative to obtain a password, if you do not already have one.

As always, we thank you for your continued business and look forward to serving you in the future.

Sincerely,

Doug Armistead
