Subject: updated price

Dear Ken,

As you may know, steel wire price has increased a lot lately. This week's price is about 10% higher than beginning of the year. Therefore, we have to update our FOB prices. Please find the attached new price list which is the best we can offer to you at this point. We will honor all the open POs and any new orders will be at new price.

Thank you very much for your understanding and please let us know if you have any questions.

Linsey
